

Lori LeBlanc lives in Texas with her husband, Eric, and four children, Jonathan, Stephanie, Joseph, and Zachary. She holds a B.S. in Pharmacy from the University of Houston, and works full-time as a pharmacist, but enjoys writing as her second career. In her free time, she likes to read, shop, coach Little League baseball, be an advocate for unborn children, and spend time with her family.